First for Sustainability...

“To Bidvest, sustainable development is about finding ongoing improvements in operational efficiencies, ensuring long-term profitability and doing the ‘right thing’ in its ever broadening definition – and is an integral part of business. We are continually refining our understanding of what sustainable development means for the Group. We will provide our businesses with a guiding sustainability framework that complements our entrepreneurial culture and adds value to what they are already doing.”

BIDVEST First for Foodservice, Australia’s leading national foodservice distributor takes a sustainability-based approach to the running of our business.

This means that through our investment in our people, in the community, and through our focus on environmental management, and by offering customers sustainable choices in the product ranges we offer, BIDVEST is the ‘supplier of choice’.
